SYNOPSIS

Helen Okpala, a Chartered Librarian and a graduate of Library & Information Science/Plant Science from University of Nigeria, is an SAP– Certified Solutions Architect whose vision is ‘to be at the forefront of knowledge expansion in any terrain’. She is the current Head of E-Resources Management and Web Presence Section, UNN Library. Helen is a one- time Public Relations Officer, Nigerian Library Association, Enugu State Chapter and an Award-winning Librarian from State Government, Professional and Educational bodies. Her career in Librarianship is non-accidental, as she was the deputy school librarian during her secondary school days. Her interest in Librarianship lead her to apply to study Library and Information Science in her first and second degrees, and currently enrolled in a Ph.D programme. She served as a UNICEF/NYSC – Certified Peer Educator trainer, involved in training students on HIV/AIDS related issues. Same year, Helen attracted a Niger State Governor’s Merit Award for developing a school library from scratch in Niger State, paying school fees for thirty indigent students, and labelling the school offices {Click here for detail}. She was a beneficiary of the Carnegie-Funded CPD Programme hosted by University of Pretoria, South Africa in 2015 and was once an International Visitors Leadership Programme (IVLP) nominee by the United States Embassy, and currently an Africa Online Volunteering Service (AOVS) volunteer attached to support the goals and services of The Gift Kids Foundation through proposal writings and social media involvement. Helen earned the Green Champion certificate from the U.S Department of State for organising two climate literacy events in UNN for youths and kids. Her visit to University of Pretoria in 2015 inspired her to enroll in a course on Makerspace and also publish a proposal paper (click here to view) which gave rise to the establishment of Makerspace in UNN Library in 2025 (Click here to view). In 2017, Helen was among the 1000 youths selected all over the world for the UNLEASH LAB event with the aim of promoting climate literacy in secondary and primary schools in Nigeria (click here). She was a speaker at the first UNN TedX event held in 2017 where she spoke on “How Librarians can engage kids and youths in the Implementation of SDG 13 – Climate Action”. Her research interests are: Artificial Intelligence, Open Access, Social Media in Libraries, Makerspace in libraries, Libraries and Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), Library Linked Open Data, Webometric Ranking of Universities, Citation Analysis, etc. Helen loves cooking, dancing and singing, and she is married with two lovely children. She can be contacted at: helen.okpala@unn.edu.ng
